

# Comments & Remarks

- Taking  $Y = [A \ B]$  simplifies the process as there is no need update  $A$  and  $B$  separately.
- Doing vector multiplication reduces the need for another for loop.
- Gauss Elimination is a better method than Cramer's rule due to its better time complexity.